Notwithstanding the fincitivity of the Hawaiian climate, the plant of mendicancy has never been able to thrive in it. When it is found difficult to discover willing recipients for the bread of charity, particularly in such a season of unusual distress as the pres-ent, the inculcation of principles of independence in our schools is really superfluous. Even the rats here disdain to touch gratuitous dainties.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.
"Historical Student"—The time when the improvement of the Valley water system, still awaiting accom-plishment, was first the subject of a high-priced engineer's report is not properly classed as prehistoric. It be-longs to the dawn of the age of liumbug, now, it is hoped, happily ap-proaching its dusk.

"Auto"—For the correct pronuncia-tion of "automobile" write to the city clerk of Mobile, Ala. A local newspa-perman pronounces it "juggernaut."

"Malihini"-Yes, there was a time in Honolulu when people could safely leave their doors and windows open all night. It was when the city was so dark and the streets so rugged that it wasn' safe for a robber to go about without a lantern, and besides possity. without a lantern, and besides mostly every householder was poor enough to keep five or six cross dogs.
